"I own a 228 acre hill country farm in the Manawatu and am interested in finding ways to improve the sustainability of the property. Fortunately I have Bush Vitality – a very impressive work that provides a huge amount of valuable and practical information. My background is in science and technology and I can see that this book promotes an enlightened insight to smart environmental management of the future. Congratulations – make sure you get this info out there!"
A. Shilton PhD.

"What a marvelous publication! This has got so much comprehensive and practical material in it that no-one will ever need to compile another bush protection/rehabilitation/recognition guide. The things I have longed for in previous publications in vain, are sensible planting guides, good photo captioning and of course a smart and user-friendly presentation." I.Gabites, naturalTEXTures
